

Anne worked hard all year. A few months after her 15th birthday, she and some other students from Avonlea went to the Teachers' College in Charlottetown to take the exam. When Anne came home, she said, "The results will be in the Charlottetown newspaper next week."

When the results finally appeared, Anne opened the newspaper nervously.

She found the right page and looked at the list. "It's incredible!" she shouted to Marilla and Matthew. "My name is first on the list!"

"That's fantastic, Anne!" said Matthew, smiling.

Marilla kissed Anne. "We're very proud of you," she said.

Gilbert's name appeared after Anne's name, with a very good mark, too. "I'm happy he'll be at college with me," Anne thought.

Why are Marilla and Matthew happy?

Chapter 11: A New Year

Before Anne left for Teachers' College, she had lots of people to see and lots of things to do. When it was time for Anne to leave, Diana kissed her and cried.

When Diana went home, Marilla started to cry. "It's very sad that you're leaving us, Anne!" she said.

"Don't be sad. I'll always love you and Matthew," said Anne, kissing Marilla. "You're my family, and Green Gables is my home."

Matthew took Anne to the train station in the buggy. At the station, Matthew said, "You're the best thing in our lives, Anne. We'll miss you."

"I'll miss you, too," Anne said. Then she turned and walked slowly to the train.
